EXPLOSIONS TO BLOW DOWN MAIN BUILDING

NOISE from the first of two explosions to tear down the main building of Didcot A Power Station could rumble out across the town next Saturday.

Residents are being warned they may hear the blast and collapse of the north side of the steel building (pictured left) during the morning, but any noise will be over in less than one minute.

It is to be washed down before hand in a bid to stop dust spreading, and a section of the A4130 will be closed for up to two hours by Southmead Industrial Estate.

A second explosion to bring down the rest of the main building is being organised for a date to be set later this year.

The demolition work is due to finish in one year – September 2016.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Town councillor Des Healy worked at the site for 27 years from 1972 to 1999.

He said: "Like all the former employees, I find it heart-breaking to see the station be demolished, but we all know it would happen once the decision was made to close it.

"It's one of the first things you see in parts of South Oxfordshire, and the first thing you see when approaching in Didcot is that big chimney, so it will be very sad as the people of Didcot have taken their station into their hearts.

"When that last explosion goes off, there will be a lot of sentimentality."

Three of the station's six cooling towers were blown down in July last year and since then external fuel tanks have been removed and other smaller buildings have been demolished.

The station's northern cooling towers are set for explosive demolition in Spring next year, while the 200m-tall chimney stack is to be blown down in the Summer.

South Oxfordshire district councillor Steve Connel, who worked as part of the station's industrial cleaning team in 2006, said: "When I first came to Didcot I was eight-years-old and it was one of the first things that I saw and now it's become iconic as one of the key part of Didcot's history."

Children's centres to face closure amid emotional pleas from Oxon parents

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PROTESTS from families about the importance of children's centres across Oxfordshire did not sway Oxfordshire County Council (OCC) from pressing ahead with a public consultation on their closure on Tuesday.

Parents from across the county have protested saying the universal support the centres offer is a lifeline to their families.

The council's cabinet voted to continue with the consultation at a meeting held at County Hall in New Road, Oxford, where 14 members of the public spoke to oppose the closures.

Alice Barrett, 32, from Headington, said: "It was promised they would be saved until 2017. It's wicked."

Last week the council announced three options which would replace the children's centres in the county.

The first option, preferred by the council, would see eight 'family and resource centres' at various locations that would not provide universal services.

The second option would also see eight centres but would offer limited universal services and a reduction in community outreach, while option three would see six centres with increased reliance on the voluntary sector.

OCC currently operates 44 centres, which it says it can no longer afford to support due to budget cuts.

City councillor for Iffley Fields, Elise Benjamin said: "I used to use the centres with my children. It's important for the centres to be local. It's not always a possibility to travel.

"The proposals are not a solution. We need to keep the children's centres open and we need to open more."

OCC's cabinet member for children, education and families, Melinda Tilley, said: "We are determined to ensure Oxfordshire County Council continues to focus its increasingly scarce finances at its disposal on supporting the most vulnerable children and their families. All three options proposed would represent a brand new start with new services."

The centres run activities and offer support and advice for parents.

The closures would cut £8million from the current £16m children's centre budget and form part of OCC's attempts to save £290m by 2018.

Flypast dazzles Oxfordshire

A FLYPAST of six aircraft flew over South Oxfordshire on Tuesday to mark the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

The flypast, which was a mixture of Spitfires and Hurricanes, flew over Wantage, Didcot, and RAF Benson at around 3.15pm before leaving Oxfordshire towards the east near Nettlebed and Henley.

It had been expected over RAF Benson near Wallingford at about 1pm but the flypast was delayed by due to bad weather.

The flypast began from Goodwood Aerodrome in West Sussex with Spitfires, Hurricanes and Blenheims from across the UK, USA and Europe who took off together before flying across ten different routes.

The route over Oxfordshire flew around the Isle of Wight, to Bristol, Swindon, and then Oxfordshire before finishing near Slough.

September 15 is known as Battle of Britain day, which is the name given to the aerial battle that involved over 1,500 aircraft between the German and Allied Forces

The RAF helped block Hitler's forces from invading Britain, which arguably proved to change the course of the war.

Centre to open

DIDCOT: A new community centre with space for 60 people in Great Western Park is due to officially open on Saturday.

Chairman of South Oxfordshire District Council, Margaret Turner, will kick the ceremony off at 1.30pm at the centre in Sir Frank Williams Avenue.

An afternoon of activities will then be held including a bouncy castle and drumming workshops.

The community centre is provided in partnership with South Oxfordshire District council and Great Western Park developers Taylor Wimpey.

Drink driving

OXON: With the rugby world cup kicking off on Friday Oxfordshire County Council's Fire and Rescue Service are urging fans to leave their keys at home when heading to the pub.

The fire service's road safety experts are warning anyone planning to drink alcohol to use taxis or buses or appoint a designated driver.

Road safety manager Mick Clarke said: "I want to remind people of the effects alcohol can have on a person's reaction times and general awareness and therefore why people should never drink and drive.

"I would like everyone to enjoy the Rugby World Cup, and having a few drinks watching the game with friends.

"It takes about one hour for your body to rid itself of each unit of alcohol."

Generator theft

FARINGDON: A generator was stolen in a burglary on Monday in Lechlade Road.

At around 1am a man approached the victim's camper van and shouted to distract the victim before taking the generator from the front seat.

The offender drove away in a bronze coloured car.

He is described as 6ft tall, of medium build with short hair and was clean-shaven.

He was also wearing a lime green top.

Open University jobs in Oxford at risk

THE Open University announced plans to close seven of its regional centres including its Oxford base on Monday.

Plans would see the site in Foxcombe Hill, Boars Hill, close and the potential loss of 500 jobs across the country.

The Open University UNISON branch secretary, Kym Gosling, said: "We are unconvinced by the university's talk of staff relocating."

Currently the closures are only proposals and Open University bosses are to due make a final decision in November.

The main site at Milton Keynes would remain open along with regional centres in Manchester, Nottingham and the national centres in Cardiff, Edinburgh and Belfast.

The Open University has said they are not expecting compulsory redundancies and vice-chancellor of the Open University Peter Horrocks said: "This recommendation, if approved, would allow us to enhance student support."

Drivers recount 'large explosion' that killed teen

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE drivers involved in a head-on collision with a Didcot motorcyclist who died in the collision on a road to Abingdon have described 'the large explosion' that resulted in the teenager losing his life.

Kieran Hughes, 19, from Walnut Lane, Great Western Park, Didcot was driving down the A415 between Kingston Bagpuize and Frilford at 4.43pm on April 13 earier this year, when he drove into the back of a Mini Countryman that 'deflected' him into the path of an oncoming Ford Transit Van.

The motorcyclist, an apprentice technician, who was driving an orange-black Yamaha 50CC, was then taken to John Radcliffe Hospital in Headington where he passed away from his injuries just after 6pm that evening.

Car salesman and driver of the mini Ricky Clarke, 37 of Oxford, said on the accident: "I had to turn right on the road, so I started to break, indicated and came to a stand still.

"I then heard screeching tires, looked in the side mirror and saw lots of smoke, the bike clip the back of my car and then a large explosion parallel with my door.

"I got out of the car and saw Kieran lying on the floor, 10-15 feet behind my car in the middle of the road and I did not see any movement at all."

The salesman was speaking at the full inquest at Oxford Coroner's Court on New Road on Thursday, where assistant coroner Jeremy Chipperfield concluded that Mr Hughes' death was accidental.

A report from the driver of the Transit van, Michael Taylor was read out, which said: "I was driving down the road when suddenly a motorbike appeared from behind a mini. I put my foot on the brake but then heard the most horrendous noise.

"I got out of the car immediately and saw the motorcyclist lying in the road with his visor completely smashed. The bike was completely smashed up and there was debris everywhere. "I thought he was dead."

Emergency services were called to the incident and a theatre nurse, who happened to be driving by when the incident happened, began chest impressions.

Dr Eve Fryer, a consultant pathologist found traces of cannabis in the teenager's bloodstream, however she could not be sure whether they contributed to the accident or not.

In his conclusion, Mr Chipperfield said to Mr Hughes' family who declined to comment at the inquest: "I'm terribly sorry for your loss and I thank you very much for attending the inquest as I know it can't have been easy."

Kieran's sister Kim and father Nigel said in a joint statement at the time of his death: "We would like to express how thankful we are for all the support and kind comments we have had from everybody.

"Kieran was and always will be loved by many, he was always known as the clown of the group, especially due to his cheeky little grin."

One year to go in Power Station demolition

• From front page

He added: "The site is one of those things where for Didcot to keep moving forward it couldn't be kept in its current state."

Steve Boughton, head of Business Development UK said: "Coleman & Company have worked on these demolition plans for the past five months in order to minimise local disruption.

"We will ensure we keep local people informed of future project developments."

Plans to build 400 homes, a hotel, pub, restaurant, and retail park on the site as well as a bridge over the A4130 have been submitted to Vale and South Oxfordshire district councils.

Didcot Town Council recommended the plans by joint developers Clowes Developments and Graftongate for refusal in July over fears the site would not be completely decontaminated.

A target decision date for the plans is set for February 18 next year.

The developer's consultants, Pegasus, say they hoping to start building on the site by 2017 at the earliest.

Calls for bus cuts survey extension

PROTESTORS called for an extension to Oxfordshire County Council's (OCC) bus cuts consultation on Monday.

The council is planning to cut £2.6 million from its subsidised bus budget and a public consultation on the three options launched on June 19, ending on Tuesday.

A demonstration was held by Bus Users Oxford outside the Oxfordshire County Council offices in New Road between 11am and 1pm.

Member Hugh Jaeger said: "Last week I had frequent users of subsidised buses meeting or calling me and saying they didn't know about the consultation. The county council did not put up posters until five weeks after it started."

OCC spokesperson Emily Reed said: "The consultation was launched on the county council and ORCC websites, via social media channels and direct communications with key stakeholders. In July posters advertising the consultation were also put up."

Dalai Lama quizzed during Oxford trip

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE Dalai Lama urged compassion for refugees and praised Oxford's willingness to take them in during a visit to the city on Monday.

His Holiness, the 14th Dalai Lama, Tenzin Gyatso, 80, is the spiritual leader of Tibet and was speaking at the start of his nine-day UK trip.

He said: "We must be compassionate, it is the basis of our human nature. Those that provide bloodshed show they are not compassionate and therefore we must show our compassion now and help rather than turn to violence."

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron announced Britain will welcome 20,00 Syrian refugees to help the European migrant crisis while German vice-chancellor Sigmar Gabriel said last week he believes Germany could take 500,00 refugees a year for several years.

Leaders from across Oxfordshire met on Friday to discuss how best to support any refugees fleeing violence in Syria, five days after a 'refugees welcome' protest of 2,000 people on Oxford.

The Dalai Lama added: "Germany has had a very good response to the crisis and this county is also now showing the seriousness of what we have to do. This city has shown that as well."

He was speaking at the only press conference of his UK trip, at Magdalen College.

He also attend a meeting at the Dalai Lama Centre for Compassion in Oxford's Beaumont Street on Tuesday.

His Holiness has lived in India since 1959 after being forced into exile from Tibet following suppression from China and stepped down as political leader for Tibet in 2011.

Dalai Lamas are believed to be enlightened beings that have postponed their own nirvana and chosen to take rebirth in order to serve humanity.

They are considered patron Saint of Tibet and have existed since 1642 - as when one Dalai Lama dies another is appointed.

Oxfordshire's MPs oppose 'right to die'

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

FIVE of Oxfordshire's six MPs, including Prime Minister David Cameron, voted against the controversial Assisted Dying Bill as it was rejected by parliament on Friday.

Witney MP Mr Cameron, Oxford East representative Andrew Smith, Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood, Wantage MP Ed Vaizey and Banbury MP Victoria Prentis all opposed the bill.

• Andrew Smith

Henley representative John Howell was absent for the vote.

The bill would have allowed terminally ill people to request life-ending medication from a doctor.

After a heated four-hour debate, the bill was rejected by the House of Commons by 330 votes against to 118 in favour.

Witney resident Christie Arntsten, who suffers from incurable breast cancer, said: "I felt compelled to speak out on assisted dying because I wanted to see change. As someone with cancer this issue directly affects me.

"Why am I not allowed to make my own decision over my own death, as I have done throughout my life? I feel like they have said my wishes don't matter."

The Assisted Dying Bill 2015 was introduced by Wolverhampton South West MP Rob Marris and was the first discussion on assisted dying in the House of Commons since 1997.

Mr Cameron said in parliament on June 10: "I do not support the assisted dying proposals. I do not support euthanasia.

"I know that there are imperfections and problems with the current law, but I think that these can be dealt with sensitively and sensibly without having a new law that actually brings in euthanasia."

The bill would have included safeguards aimed at preventing abuse of the new law, which would have included approval from two doctors and a High Court judge.

Mr Smith said: "I have not been persuaded that legalising assisted dying or voluntary euthanasia is the right thing to do.

"It runs counter to the presumption of sanctity of human life and overturns the principle of preserving life which guides every doctor, which is why the British Medical Association has consistently rejected it."

Protest on PM's lawn

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A GROUP of environmental protestors led by fashion designer Dame Vivienne Westwood turned up at the Prime Minister David Cameron's West Oxfordshire home in a tank on Friday.

The demonstration was held in protest of fracking in northern England and the midlands, as groups fear the environmental impact after the government green lit the practice last month.

Joining Dame Vivienne for the protest at the Witney MP's home in Dean was the campaign group the Anti-Fracking Nanas from Lancashire, who were wearing gas masks for the occasion.

Dame Vivienne said: "Cameron has mobilised his troops against the advice of the government's own chief scientist to the detriment and destruction of the people of Britain.

"The public will not take it lying down and will fight tooth and nail.

"Politicians are behaving like criminals and we are calling for regime change in Britain."

Fracking involves drilling deep into the earth and blasting water, sand and chemicals at rock to release natural gases inside.

The process has been controversial in both America and the UK as potentially dangerous chemicals used in the process could contaminate the area.

Dame Vivienne added: "Cameron accuses foreign leaders such as President Gaddafi and President Assad of supposedly using chemicals on their own people as a justification for regime change.

• Dame Vivienne and protestors outside Mr Cameron's home

"But he is doing precisely that here in Britain by forcing toxic, life threatening fracking chemicals on his own people."

Last month the government said it would offer fracking licences for 27 locations in Yorkshire, the north-west, and the east Midlands.

The protest travelled from Enstone along the B4022 to the Prime Minister's constituency home in Dean on Friday morning.

Mr Cameron was in Leeds giving a speech at the time of protest.

Tina Rothery from the Anti-Fracking Nanas said: "It is with the deepest sadness and regret that we residents, mothers, grandmothers and children of Lancashire find ourselves confronting what can only be described as a dictatorship."

Mr Cameron's office had not responded to a request for comment as the Guardian went to press.

OXFORD: Police have released an E-fit of a man they are looking for (below) after an indecent exposure, which took place on Sunday, June 21.

The incident happened at around 5.20pm on Five Mile Drive when a man in a blue Vauxhall Zafira called over two 14-year-old girls.

While asking directions a man exposed himself to the girls.

Police released the E-fit on Monday.

Man hit by car

WANTAGE: An elderly man was hit by a car on Saturday, September 12.

At around 9.45am a car, believed to have been reversing, hit the man on Partridge Close.

The victim was treated at the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford injuries to his head and shoulder. Call 101 with details.

Police run student awareness

POLICE have launched a safety campaign this week as students return to Oxford after the summer break.

Operation Bachelor is aiming to prevent students becoming victims of crime by increasing their security consciousness.

The operation will see more police officers take to the streets in plain clothes and in uniform around the city.

Detective Sergeant Kirk Rogers, based at St Aldate's Police Station, said: "We are conducting a street based pro-active operation to target offenders committing burglary, robbery and drug dealing.

"These types of crimes will not be tolerated in Oxford and we are focusing our resources to ensure students and residents of Oxford remain safe.

"We are urging the public to provide us with any information to assist us."

Thames Valley Police officers will attend the Oxford Brookes fresher's fairs where they will give out ultra violet pens for students to mark their electrical items with.

Officers across Oxford will also be working with the Oxford Safer Communities Partnership (OSCP) to help spread crime prevention messages.

New and existing students will be returning to the city as Oxford Brookes fresher's week started on Monday and will continue until Saturday.

Students can register all their valuable items for free at immobilise.com, which helps to combat the sale of stolen gadgets as well as simplifying insurance claims.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!
It's been a crazy few months for C'loudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.
Managing Director James Millet feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.
Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'
Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'
So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

BMW expansion deal to close Cowley clubs

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• Signs outside the BMW Mini plant in Cowley, Oxford

A £4.9 MILLION deal to expand BMW Mini's Cowley car plant onto neighbouring sports pitches will see a new sports facility built nearby.

The deal with Oxford City Council agreed last Thursday night at the city's executive board meeting means a new 'state of the art' sports site is to be built on land off Horspath Road.

It will include four senior football pitches, three junior pitches and cricket pitches along with a new building, cricket pavilion, full-sized 3G surface and six five-a-side courts on the 32-acre site owned by the city council.

Oxford United trains on the existing facilities and will go on to use the new site.

Oxford City Council leader Bob Price said the council are to get a one-off payment and would then build and sub-contract the new facility.

He said: "We will produce a state-of-the-art facility, not just for the benefit of Oxford United, but for the benefit of the people of Oxford.

"It is a provisional deal that we have struck and we need to iron out details before our planning application can be put in and we can clear the site."

Oxford United will be given a training ground, as part of the deal that will then be leased to them and the cricket club will also have a base at the ground.

But Oxford Sports & Social Club and Oxford Bowls Club, which use the existing site, are planning not to move to the new site as they say they will not be able to afford the rent.

As a result Oxford Bowls Club is set to fold this season after 62 years.

Club chairman Jim Warland, 83, said: "It's a shame as the new facilities could have been a big upgrade for the club but we wouldn't have been able to afford to rent it out.

"BMW have been great landlords to us over the years but the number of people interested in this club just isn't the same as it used to be."

He added that the sports and social club is in a similar position and is expected to close in March.

Spokesperson for BMW Group Sarah Heaney said: "We are pleased with the decision and the support the city council has shown. We look forward to continuing to work together on the next steps."

The bowls club is hosting a weekend of bowls on September 20 to 21 to mark the closure.

Oxford United declined to comment on the plans.

Council estate revamps on hold?

PLANS to regenerate Blackbird Leys and Barton housing estates and build 485 new council houses may be put on hold.

Oxford City Council is warning government proposals for councils to reduce rents and the extended rollout of 'right to buy' could mean it cannot pay for its plans to build and revamp council homes.

It estimated a £36.5 million shortfall in its housing revenue account budget over four years if the measures are adopted.

Council deputy leader Ed Turner said: "The government's proposals pose a serious risk to our investment programme. The council has agreed a review on all non-essential larger capital works in order to consider the impacts of the proposals while the government clarifies the detail of their policies.

"This could mean the pausing of the plans to regenerate Blackbird Leys and Barton Estates and the council's target of building 485 new council houses could be scaled back."

Cllr Turner said last Thursday they are raising the issue with Oxford MPs Andrew Smith and Nicola Blackwood and are seeking meetings with government ministers.

Chancellor George Osborne's July budget said councils would need to reduce rents by one per cent a year for four years, and extend 'right to buy' schemes.

1,600 visit ruins under Oxford

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

MORE than 1,600 people glimpsed a piece of Oxford's rich history as 700-year-old ruins under the £500million Westgate redevelopment were opened to the public on Saturday.

Remains of the buildings were rediscovered two months ago on the site of the old Westgate multi-storey car park in Oxpens Road when it was demolished to make way for the shopping centre's revamp and expansion.

The open day was the last chance the public could access the Westgate construction site to see the Greyfriars' stone buildings.

Project manager at Oxford Archaeology, Ben Ford, said: "It's really important that archaeological discoveries like this are viewed by the public because it happens in a short space of time.

"It's a short opportunity the public gets to see these remains. They're the remains of towns that they work and live in every day."

Amongst the discoveries is a large kitchen area with a system of water channels which would have supplied water for washing and drainage to the complex.

Mr Ford added: "The Oxford Greyfriars was probably the largest of the Greyfriars, probably larger than the one in London.

"It was a Friary that people came to visit from all over to learn about science, mathematics and religion."

Greyfriars in the Roman Catholic Church are members of a religious order such as Franciscans, Dominicans or Augustinians, and Greyfriars were so-called because of the colour of their robes.

The original Westgate shopping centre and car park opened in 1976, but in February demolition work started on the new centre with the bulldozing of the car park.

On Sunday more than 30 archaeologists who worked on the original 1960s excavations reunited to visit the site.

Director of the 1960s excavations, Tom Hassall, said: "At the opening of the Westgate Centre the Duke of Edinburgh said to me that he wondered when the shopping centre and car park would be pulled down and excavated by future archaeologists. Little did we know that 2015 would be that time."

The open day was part of Oxford Open Doors organised by Oxford Preservation Trust, which took place on Saturday and Sunday and welcomes the public into Oxford sites free of charge.

Excavation work is due to be finished by the end of the year.

The new shopping centre will include over 100 stores, 25 restaurants and cafes, a 'boutique' cinema and rooftop terrace dining area. It is due to open in Autumn 2017.

OAP wins pay-out after 'terrifying' dog mauling

A PENSIONER left needing surgery after a dog mauled his face has been handed a payout of thousands of pounds.

Paul Wiseman, 68, from North Moreton spoke out last week after securing the undisclosed four-figure cash settlement.

He was walking his dog in February 2013 when he was attacked by a border terrier not on its lead.

He said: "I was absolutely shocked and terrified when I was attacked and the fact the dog was biting my face. Luckily I was able to get up and get home.

"It wasn't until I got home that I realised how serious my injuries were and I have been left with a permanent reminder of the attack. I'm now very apprehensive when I walk my dog."

The terrier, called Reilly , was owned by Brenda Curtis of North Moreton.

Mr Wiseman had been trying to pick up his own dog when he fell over.

After getting home his wife drove him straight to John Radcliffe Hospital in Headington where he was referred to the trauma assessment unit in the plastic surgery department.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

He underwent surgery that day and took two weeks off to recover.

But he says he still finds it difficult to speak, eat and wash his face.

Ms Curtis admitted one count of being the owner of a dog dangerously out of control in a public place and which injured a person, at Oxford Magistrates' Court.

The 49-year-old was fined £1,000 in compensation and ordered to keep her dog under control on a lead in public, or it would be destroyed.

The cash settlement was then secured by Sheffield-based law firm Irwin Mitchell from the dog owner's insurers.

Mr Wiseman added: "I'm extremely relieved I can now start to put the incident behind me.

"But I hope what happened to me will act as a reminder to dog owners to keep their pets on a lead in public places, as nobody should have to go through what I went through."

Work begins on Park End Street revamp

WORK to repair a key road into Oxford started on Monday for 14 weeks.

Park End Street, off Frideswide Square, will have a one way system in place while resurfacing and drainage works are carried out.

Water damage on Pacey's Bridge along the route will also be fixed as part of the project until about December 21.

Businesses and pedestrian routes will stay open.

County councillor David Nimmo Smith, cabinet member for transport said: "The work has been needed for some time and by combining it with major improvements we are making to Frideswide Square, we can minimise disruption.

"The end result will be a road and bridge that hopefully won't need attention for some years."

Work started on Frideswide Square in February to remodel it from four lanes and two bus lanes, to two lanes with two new roundabouts at either end, and extra public space.

Frideswide Square work is due to be completed in December.

During the revamp in Park End Street westbound bus services will be diverted via Hythe Bridge Street with temporary bus stops.

Work is taking place between 7.30am and 5pm from Monday to Friday and between 7.30am and 1pm on Saturdays.

Sir Roger's record-breaking shoes sold for over £260,000

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• The shoes sold for £266,500

THE shoes worn by Sir Roger Bannister in his world record sub-four minute mile run were auctioned in London on Thursday for £266,500 – over four times the original estimate.

The University of Oxford graduate was the first person to ever run a mile in under four minutes at Iffley Road Track in Oxford on May 6, 1954.

And the 86-year-old, who lives in Oxford, has said he will donate some of the proceeds from the sale to the neurological charity Autonomic Charitable Trust.

Sir Roger said: "They served me great purpose, I'm grateful to them.

"But I think it's the right time to part with them and I plan to give part of the proceeds to Autonomic Charitable Trust (ACT), which encourages the area of neurological research to which I have devoted most of my life.

"Other worthwhile causes in which I have an interest will also benefit."

The shoes were sold at Christie's auction house in South Kensington, London, and were bought by an anonymous bidder over the phone, far exceeding initial estimates of between £30,000 and £50,000.

Sir Roger added: "I could see there was an advantage in having the shoe as light as possible.

"The leather is extremely thin and the spikes are unusually thin, as I used a grindstone to make them even thinner.

"These shoes are the last tangible link I have with the four-minute mile. All my trophies are now on display at Pembroke College, Oxford, where I was Master."

Sir Roger ran the mile in 3:59.4 at a meet between the British Amateur Athletics Association and Oxford University.

Kate Summers, head of sales at the auction, said: "After two and a half minutes of bidding, they were sold to an anonymous buyer on the telephone.

"They are the symbol not only of an historic moment in sporting history, but demonstrate what humans can achieve with determination and persistence."

The shoes were made by Charles Law of GT Law and Son, at Wimbledon Park in London.

They weighed four and a half ounces - much lighter than other running shoes of the time.

Flasher in park

OXFORD: A man exposed himself to a woman as she walked along the cycle path by Marsh Park on Wednesday morning at around 9.30am.

The incident happened as the woman walked from Barracks Lane towards Hollow Way.

The offender is described as black, in his mid to late 20s, of medium build and is around 5ft 11ins tall.

He has short black afro hair and was wearing dark skinny jeans and a sandy coloured t-shirt.

Find Your Voice

OXFORD: Coming as part of the Magna Carta's 800th anniversary celebrations, Oxford Central Library launched the Find Your Voice Project on Tuesday.

The launch - which took place on Democracy day – aimed to help young people find their political voice.

Work will be showcased from workshops held over the summer, including poetry readings by students from Oxford Inspires Academy and the Oxford Poetry Hub.

The project is part of a joint initiative by The Story Museum, Oxford Contemporary Music, Pegasus Theatre and the Oxford Poetry Hub.

Oxfordshire MPs' expenses published

OXFORD East MP Andrew Smith claimed the most expenses in Oxfordshire, according to statistics published for 2014-15 by an independent watchdog.

The figures, published on Thursday, revealed Witney MP and Prime Minister David Cameron claimed the least expenses in the county.

The Independent Parliamentary Standards Authority (IPSA) published a full list of MPs' expenses for the 2014 to 2015 financial year on their website.

Labour MP Mr Smith claimed a total of £156,268.70 over the year, while Mr Cameron's expenses totalled £128,375.59.

Mr Cameron's costs dropped slightly from £129.377.72 between 2013 and 2014, while Mr Smith's fell by around £2,700 from £159,027.

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood claimed £154,639.52, Henley MP John Howell £149,403, and Wantage MP Ed Vaizey £147,553.96.

Former Banbury MP Sir Tony Baldry, who stepped down at May's elections, claimed £139,976.45.

IPSA chief executive, Marcial Boo, said: "Our regular publications include every single penny claimed by MPs, so that taxpayers and voters can see for themselves how their money is spent."

Mr Boo added: "As the regulator of public funds that go to MPs, IPSA ensures that taxpayers money is used transparently, and that MPs are appropriately resourced to carry out their parliamentary functions."

Alongside these statistics IPSA named and shamed 26 serving and former MPs who have outstanding debts to the taxpayer.

Former energy minister Charles Hendry and former Labour minister Frank Dobson are amongst those who had not paid after IPSA requested money back.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

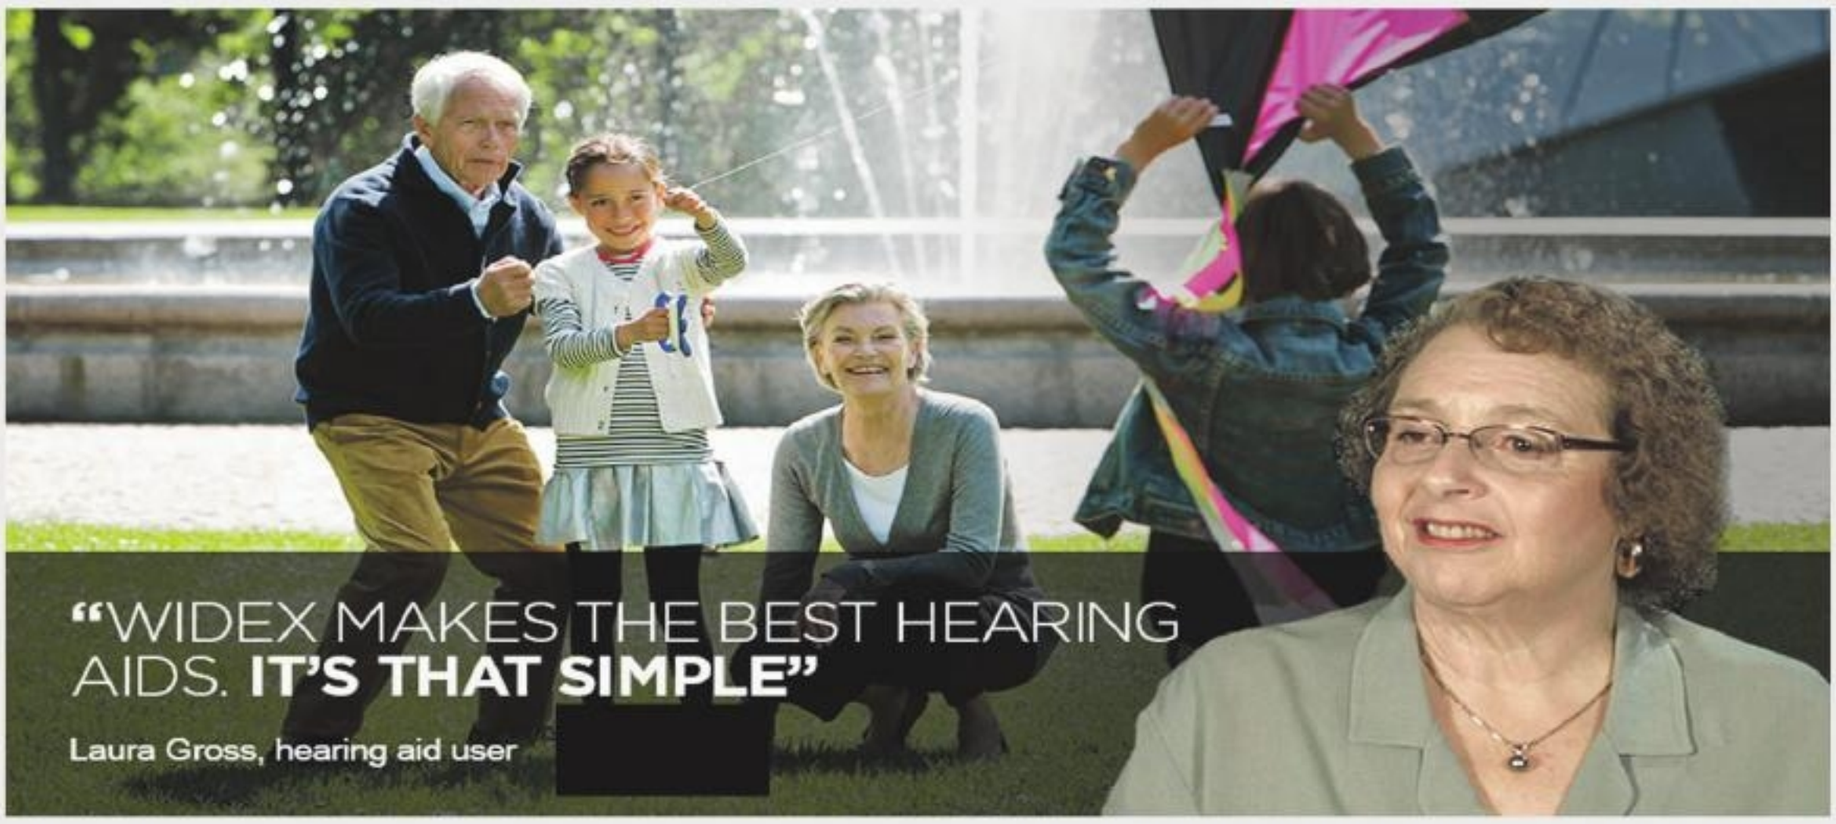
Exceptional Hearing Aids From Widex – Available At Sound Hearing

At Widex, we combine years of understanding with a natural curiosity in finding solutions to individual hearing loss. Our uncompromising approach to innovation has led to such advances as the world's first digital in-the-ear hearing aid, as well as our own revolutionary wireless technology.

However, hearing aids are more than the technology inside them. Not only should they help people hear better, they should be comfortable and easy to wear. We concentrate just as much on design of hearing aids as on technology to create a near-natural hearing experience.



Try Widex DREAM Hearing Aids At Sound Hearing

Dream is the exceptional hearing aid from Widex.

With Dream, you get a much richer and well-rounded sound; and you can enjoy louder sounds with comfort, such as the cheering of a crowd at a football match or the sudden sound changes when watching a film.

Widex believe that all hearing aids should give you the ability to understand speech. Speech understanding is often compromised in noisy environments, but new technology that preserves the human voice means that with Dream you can actively enjoy conversations, whether you're in a crowded restaurant with family or at a noisy concert with friends.

Come along to the Widex Dream Open events at Sound Hearing on Tuesday 22nd September and Wednesday 23rd September.

Refreshments provided throughout the day!

1960s Baltimore in Oxford

WHEN a happy-go-lucky teenage girl is told she can't follow her dreams to be a professional dancer due to her weight, what does she do?

Find out as, 'Hairspray the Musical' makes its way to Oxford's New Theatre from Monday, September 21 to Saturday, September 26.

Set in 1962 Baltimore where racial segregation and fat shaming were at an all time high, Tracy Turnblad auditions to be on, 'The Corny Collins Show' - a teen dance television programme.

By James Richings

However, she is rejected by the station manager due to her weight and support of racial integration.

• Tony Maudsley as Edna Turnblad (hoto by Ellie Kurttz)

"The producers really wanted to put more emphasis within the messages of the show which are still very current", actor Tony Maudsley who plays Edna Turnblad told the Guardian.

"Even back when John Waters wrote the film all those years ago, he was challenging the pressures that women have.

"To this day, women are still programmed in all forms of media to strip themselves of any individuality and perform to almost unachievable existence.

"There is also the racial prejudice elements of the show which John Waters based on his own experiences as he grew up in Baltimore where he witnessed the segregation and all the riots.

"And even though the show is wrapped up in this fluffy, chocolate box bonanza, I hope people can take on board the issues as they are really current."

Written, directed and produced by John Waters in 1988, the original film became an international and financial smash with the movie being nominated for six Independent Spirit Awards.

And 14 years later in 2002, a stage adaptation of the film was introduced which has since become one of the most successful musicals of all time, winning a total of 23 awards from 40 nominations, before a remake of the film was released in 2007.

Starring a-list celebrities such as John Travolta, Zac Efron, Queen Latifah and Michelle Pfeiffer, the film gained positive feedback and won six awards.

And for Tony, who is best known for playing the camp hairdresser Kenneth in 'Benidorm', the chance to play Edna has come in the form of a challenge, as this will be his first stage production in 12 years, and first musical theatre production in 18 years.

"Edna is a big wonderful and in my case a six foot, 20 stone woman whose character has always been played by a man," he explained.

"But Hairspray is about tolerance, body shape and skin colour where it celebrates individuality."

He added: "What we are going to do in the show which they haven't done before is that they are going to be TVs on the stage, which will show the segregation in the 60s.

"This is so that the kids realize these things did actually happen.

"The show is a really good platform for parents to take their kids to, as the show is a conversation starter."

Tickets cost between £17.90 and £53.40 for the Oxford shows.

Hendrix lives in tribute act

CURRENT Bellowhead member and multi-instrumentalist Benji Kirkpatrick will be paying homage to Jimi Hendrix when he arrives at the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot this Saturday, September 19.

By James Richings

'Bendrix: Benji Kirkpatrick's Hendrix Project' will see Benji take to the stage performing some of the most iconic Hendrix tunes that dominated the 60s, only with a twist.

Instruments such as the bouzouki, banjo and mandolin will all be used on Saturday night as audience members will hear Hendrix's songs like they have never heard them before, much to the excitment of Benji.

"The point of this project is to re-imagine his songs, to approach them from another angle and attempt to highlight the song writing skills of Hendrix," he told the Guardian.

"You could say it's looking at Hendrix as a singer-songwriter, rather than the guitarist and rock god we are all familiar with. So my versions are completely acoustic and I don't perform any of them on guitar, only bouzouki, banjo and mandolin.

"Other music has obviously had a bearing on my style and approach but he has always been a huge inspiration to me."

The first half of the show will see Benji perform his own material with a couple of Hendrix pieces that aren't on his album, 'Hendrix Songs', that he has recorded for the project, where in the second half, it will be Hendrix songs only.

But as well as touring the country with his Hendrix project, the 39-year old is known for being one of the original members of the contemporary folk group Bellowhead, who will split in May next year following lead singer and co-founder Jon Boden's decision to leave.

Despite being a member of the band since its inception back in 2004, Benji has no regrets from the last decade.

"We've had a lot of fun and learnt a great deal through what we've done and we all get on pretty well so when we finish I'll miss being around the other members."

The show starts at 8pm and tickets costs from between £13.50 to £15.

Julie Dennis will jazz your Sunday

OXFORD-BASED musician Julie Dennis will be bringing her trusty quartet to the Oxford Wine Cafe this Sunday, September 20.

By James Richings

The musician, who has been involved in music for the majority of her life, has been a professional singer, songwriter and producer since 2005 and in 2007, she became the owner of 'Simply Vocals Ltd', which is a company that focuses on voice training for musicians.

And following an eight-year hiatus from music due to illness, Julie revealed to the Guardian that she is raring to go at the Summertown venue.

"I will be performing my take on many recognizable standards along with the odd smattering of original ideas," Julie said.

"I've had an eight year break from the scene due to illness, but I'm fighting fit now and looking forward to bringing influences from my previous dalliances with classical and soul music.

"I'm also looking forward to getting back into the swing of things and this will mark my return back to jazz in preparation for a new album and a brand new sound."

Named after jazz musician Julie London, who is famous for recording the track, 'Cry Me a River', back in 1955, Julie was brought up in Birkenhead near Liverpool in the 60s, where she was born into a musical family.

Her parents were members of a skiffle group - who use improvised instruments to play jazz and blues - when she was a child, which inspired her to go down the jazz route.

And with jazz making a slow emergence back into mainstream music with musicians such as Caro Emerald and Gregory Porter leading the way, Julie hopes that many young jazz enthusiasts will make their way to the Oxford Wine Cafe this weekend, as she describes youngsters going to watch live music as 'fundamentally important'.

"Music has always involved people whether evolving through protest or emotion," she said.

"I have come to realise this with the advent of technology based music, which I've spent several years engaging with, where I have had a degree of chart success as there is an ever increasing ability to reach a huge number of people through your work.

"However, it's bringing people in front of live musicians that really get the emotional juices flowing."

The quartet consists of bassist Paul Jefferies, pianist Rob Terry and drummer Steve Wyndham.

This is a free event that will kick off at 6.30pm and will last until 9pm.

Paul has already performed more live shows than any other contestant from a talent search programme, whilst in recognition of Paul's meteoric 'rags to riches' rise to fame, his life story has been turned into a film also entitled One Chance and stars award-winning comedian James Corden.
Joining Paul is special guest Catriona Murray, a classical soprano from Nottingham. Discovered earlier this year by Britain's Got Talent winner Jamie Lambert, Catriona has begun work on compiling a solo album and has a string of concerts lined up for the summer season.
Paul Potts is once again set to remind audiences of his inspiring charm and rich, mellifluous classical prowess, complemented by Catriona Murray – a new generation of exceptional talent.

SEAN HUGHES: MUMBO JUMBO

Multi award winning comedian Sean Hughes is back with a new show called Mumbo Jumbo. Throughout his life he has been battling to stay on the right side of sanity. This is because in middle age he has realised that the two sides of his brain are in constant conflict. There is common sense against mumbo jumbo and mumbo jumbo seems to have the upper hand. The show consists of stories including being serenaded at the break of dawn by Robert Smith, trekking mountain gorillas in Rwanda and coming to the conclusion that he will never have a proper conversation with his dear mum. There will be a few poems and a 3-minute musical about ageing too.

WILD PONIES

Wild Ponies offer dead right, honest songwriting. Headed up by Doug & Telicha Williams, their most recent album 'Things That Used to Shine' garnered widespread critical acclaim, spent 6 weeks in the top 20 of the Americana Music Association Radio chart, and over 20 weeks in the top 40.

Fiat 500 goes on sale in the UK

REVIEW: Fiat 500

By James Richings

FOLLOWING on from its release eight years ago, more than one million Fiat 500s have been sold around the globe.

So enthusiasts of the supermini will be pleased to hear the new Fiat 500 is now available to buy in the UK.

Retaining the unmistakable look that has made it a world best-seller, the new car hasn't grown in size but has grown in maturity with advanced technologies, improved efficiency, added customisation ideas and a refreshed exterior and interior.

No fewer than 1,800 changes have been made to produce the new 500, most of which have been made towards the front.

The bonnet has kept its traditional clamshell form, and a trapezoidal nose gives a more pronounced sharpness with the air vent now fed through a three-dimensional grille to give the car a stronger presence.

The interior of the Fiat 500 has not been left out.

The dashboard design now has the advanced Uconnect infotainment across the Fiat 500 range.

The unit is easier to read and more intuitive to use, but it also improves connectivity and functionality with steering wheel remote controls and USB/Aux-in ports.

The Fiat 500 Lounge model is equipped with the Uconnect five-inch Radio Live system which is a touchscreen unit, complete with Bluetooth hands-free calling and music streaming.

It also includes voice recognition and an SMS reader for reading text messages received on compatible devices, and this is available as a £250 option on Pop and Pop Star models.

The Uconnect system can be operated via a new steering wheel which features remote control buttons which are easier to operate.

The interior will give the driver and passengers great comfort as the front seats adopt a more user-friendly shape which is also available in nine colour combinations.

Further enhancements include a new lidded glove box on the passenger's side, revised centre console with new cup holders and a relocated 12V power socket.

Engineered to comply with the toughest standards, the 500 is now equipped with a popular 1.2 69bhp engine with 257mm front disc brakes for very effective and powerful braking, with the car also having seven airbags.

Active safety systems include an anti-lock braking system, electronic brake distribution, advanced electronic stability control, anti-slip regulation and hill holder and hydraulic brake assistance to help with emergency stops.

The new Fiat 500 became available to purchase this month.

Prices start at £10,890.

CITY GO SECOND IN HISTORIC 2-1 COMEBACK

A MOMENTOUS performance from Oxford City in their 2-1 win over Dartford FC lifted them into their highest league position in the club's history at Marsh Lane on Tuesday night.

Goals from John Azramendi and substitute Kynan Isaac fired home to cement a second-half Hoops comeback that lifted them to second in the table.

The visitors started brightly with efforts from Elliot Bradbrook, Lee Noble and Ryan Hayes in the first 20 minutes unable to beat City keeper' Laurie Walker.

Their pressure soon paid off in the 35th minute after forward Andy Pugh latched on to a clever pass from Ryan Hayes, who slammed home his finish to give Dartford the initiative.

Both sides kept the ball well and attempted to create more openings after the break but neither team could find the net for the rest of a tense first-half period.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

City seized the initiative in the second half, controlling the pace of the game from the off as recent signing Conor McDonagh came on for Mukendi and eight minutes after the restart, Azramendi managed to find the net.

His low shot from the left side of the box just managed to beat Dartford keeper Deren Ibrahim.

Isaac found the winner in the 71st minute after once again City attacked down the left and the substitute's shot flew past Ibrahim after it took a deflection off Dartford defender Tom Gardiner.

Dartford manager Tony Burham made three changes to the squad after the goal but the away side just couldn't find themselves an equaliser.

The result shows City's progress as a growing side in the division with nearly a quarter of games played.

City's form over the last five games has been prolific with 13 goals scored from four wins and one draw, and the side are now joint top-scorers in the division alongside Whitehawk FC with 22 goals.

Justin Merrit's men will now head to Eastbourne Borough on Saturday before facing Shortwood United in the second qualifying round of the Emirates FA Cup the following Saturday.

City were dumped out by United in a 2-1 defeat at the same stage last season so will be looking for revenge in the encounter.

Demolition at Iffley Road as Blues bow out

OXFORD RL finished their league campaign in demoralising fashion with a 76-12 thrashing by Oldham Roughyeds at Iffley Road who sealed themselves the Kingtone Press League 1 title on Saturday.

The champions raced into a unassailable 28-0 lead with only thirty minutes on the clock before Oxford managed to cross through Luke Gardiner.

Following Nathan Kitson's conversion, Oldham hit back, with the away team scoring 13 tries over the course of the ninety minutes.

Louis Richards got Oxford's only other try after he latched on to a loose ball and Kitson added off the extras for his side.

Oldham's Steve Roper missed only one of his thirteen conversion attempts, as Oxford's players couldn't contain their disappointment with a few fisticuffs shown at the final whistle in the South East sunshine.

Oxford winger and fans favourite Luke Gardiner also signed a new deal with the club yesterday to stay next season.

The Blues finished tenth in the table with fourteen points after 22 games.

Millers continue FA Cup run

A DOUBLE from Morgan Williams sealed North Leigh's progression into the second qualifying round of the FA Cup in a thrilling 3-2 win at Chessington and Hook United on Saturday.

The Surrey-based side were behind after 31 minutes after Elliot Osborne-Ricketts was fouled as he ran through the defence seven yards outside the penalty area.

Williams stepped up for the free kick and planted it just inside the right hand post, leaving keeper Ian Hewill no chance.

Three minutes after the restart it was two for the Millers after a long free kick was belted up from just over the half-way line into the box and defender Lewis White smashed home a rebound after his initial headed effort was saved.

Second place finish from maverick Smith

OXFORD'S Bradley Smith secured a career-best second place performance at the MotoGP in Misano on Sunday as a decision to stay out on dry tyres in damp conditions proved to be a masterstroke.

The Monster Yamaha Tech3 Team rider starred in front of nearly 100,000 people as he clinched the second MotoGP rostrum of his career.

He had started from the second row; however, moments before the 28-lap race got underway, rain began to fall at the Misano World Circuit.

Shortly after the lights went out the rain got much worse and some riders came in to change bikes in the first quarter, yet Smith made the gutsy decision to remain out on track with dry tyres rather than wet ones whilst every other rider pitted.

He dropped from sixth to 21st by the 11th lap but slowly the rain stopped falling and the track began to dry, meaning the racer could rocket through the field into ninth.

The rest of the riders then changed to dry bikes and Smith surged forward moving into a podium position by lap 20 before moving up into 2nd and just a few laps later crossing the finish line.

Smith said after the race: "I am thrilled with this finish as I feel that I earned it today even though it was a big gamble!

"It was very difficult to make the right decisions in the race and I tried to make a few calculations in my head.

"I looked at the sky before it started and I said to myself if it rains, it will only be for a short while and I hoped it would dry quickly."

The 24-year-old from Forest Hill added that coming home in second is 'very special' with his only podium finish before was third in Australia.

He said: "This result is one of my greatest and it's a truly emotional moment. To finally come home in second is very special."

Smith now moves back up to fifth in the world championship standings after the ride with the Spanish MotoGP in Aragon taking place next weekend.

Harlequins win in ground return

OXFORD Harlequins enjoyed a happy return to Marston Ferry Road after seven years, beating Salisbury 24-19 in the South West 1 East on Saturday.

Quin's Adam Neal drove over in the first half before Huw Diamond converted and added a penalty at half time.

The home side then extended their lead through Axel Poulet before Dimond added the extras.

Salisbury hit back at Oxford when Rob Larcombe scored with Tom Pottage converting.

A breath-taking 35-metre run for Quins from Dimond continued the scoring as Oxford led 24-7 before the break.

The visitors hit back through Luke Esnouf and David Tonge as Pottage also converted but the Quins managed to hold on for the first points of the season.

The Quins had previously shared the facilities at the Southern Bypass Ground with Oxford RFC since 2008 with the latter disbanding in 2011.

The Quins decided at their Annual General meeting in July that they would return to Marston Ferry Road.

Wantage back to winning ways

WANTAGE Town bounced back from three successive defeats with a 3-1 win at Bashley on Saturday, the same side they'd previously thrashed 9-0 in August.

A double from Ben Whitehead and a goal from Stephen Davis sealed the win for the Freds with Carl Foster finding a consolation for the home side.

Wantage's first of the day came in the 23rd minute when Jake John's free-kick was whipped in and Davis got a touch on it to tap it in to the back of the net.

Just five minutes into the second half the Freds made it two with Whitehead calmly chipping the ball over home keeper Nic Jones who came rushing out to collect a long ball over the top.

It was three for the Freds in the 65th minute after Piers McGlyn's run down the right led to him cutting inside, darting through the defence before teeing up Whitehead, whose shot rolled under Jones.

Bashley got their consolation in the 80th minute when they were awarded a free kick and substitute Foster tapped in.

A LAST-MINUTE header from Adam Learoyd sent Didcot Town fans wild as they secured a 4-3 victory over VCD Athletic in their Emirates FA Cup first qualifying round replay at the Loop Meadow on Tuesday night.

The sides headed into the encounter after a last-minute Mark Janes equaliser secured the replay in the tussle at The Oakwood on Sunday in a 1-1 draw.

Athletic took the lead after 21 minutes with Kojo Awotwi gliding through the defence before coolly dispatching his shot past Leigh Bedwell.

Janes got himself on the scoresheet once again after he snatched the ball from VCD's Richard Graham, before blasting home to level the tie.

Didcot launched forward in the second half and Learoyd got his first of the evening to put them in front.

The midfielder got his head to the ball in a crowded box from a corner to give them the lead in the 58th minute.

VCD hit back straight from the restart with Aaron Wickham charging forward down the right before picking out Graham who powered the ball home for the equaliser.

In the 72nd minute, Marvin Hamilton had handled the ball in the area and Janes stepped up to convert to once again give Didcot the lead.

Nine minutes later the scores were level once more after substitute Nigel Neita broke past Didcot's Matt Woodley and planted the ball past Bedwell to set up a grand stand finish.

With the game set for extra time, The Diddy found their last-gasp winner as Andy Ballard launched a huge throw in and Learoyd swerved in the air, to head, with his back to goal, the ball into the far post corner, which completed the epic win.
